

SOMEWHERE

A

You don't want a car, you don't want to drive

D

You just want to get somewhere where you can feel alive

A

Somewhere too far to walk, too far to row a boat

D

Far from the cookie jar where you left a note

F#m

You're still looking for that place you call somewhere

E

You'll go to your grave with your thumb in the air

A

You hitch up to the mountains, jump into the creek

D

Frozen lungs, bulging eyes, chattering monkey teeth

A

Then sit there in the August sun and let it warm your bones

D

Sorry-ass albino prune a long-ass way from home

F#m

Cars all pass you by, blinding you with glare

A

You'll go to your grave with your thumb in the air

D

Somewhere, over the rainbow

A

Always somewhere else

D

There's no such place to go

F#m

A

Just come home to yourself

A

Now you're small potatoes on unfamiliar ground

D

Baked and mashed, burned and crashed, sadder than a clown

A

The somewhere you've been seeking is not in Timbuktu

D

It's not out there somewhere, it's somewhere inside you

F#m

Still you keep on running never getting anywhere
